Ignis Charity Day—Acorns

At King's Hill, we celebrated our house team—IGNIS! We took part and supported the charity Acorns Children's Hospice. We made a contribution of £1 to the charity and wore the colour orange to show our support to Acorns. We decorated an acorn to support the charity as acorns need care to grow and flourish just like the children who require the Acorns services.

Red Nose Day

On Friday 20th March 2026, we celebrated Red Nose Day where we wore the colour red and took part in a quiz in a funny quiz to learn more about the Red Nose Day charity. We learned about who the charity supports and how the charity supports them.

World Book Day

For World Book Day, we dressed up as our favourite book characters and took part in the King's Hill competition—to design a book front cover and blurb! We also had a special book author visit us in school, Kev Payne. He taught us about writing creative poems and strategies draw illustrations for books. We had the opportunity to ask him many questions and even purchase some of his books.

Visiting Statfold Country Park

Our recent educational visit to Statfold Country Park was a fantastic experience for the children. They thoroughly enjoyed exploring the railway museum and seeing the impressive collection of steam locomotives up close. The train rides were a particular highlight, sparking lots of excitement and curiosity.

British Science Week

We participated in British Science Week and conducted a physics experiment to investigate how and why boats float. In our classes, we found the more weight the more likely a boat is to sink and discussed how this may affect real boats in the world. We showcased our work to our fellow pupils and parents at the British Science Week Exhibition and took part in the Science quiz.
